Bock to be Built-New Engine-House.

A regular monthly meeting of the Common Council was held yesterday evening. Present, J. Taylor Ellyson, president, and the following members: Messrs. Animons, Archer, Bahen. Bowie, Bryan, Cabell, Campbell, Curtis. Cutchins, Frischkorn, Griffith, Gunn. Guy, Hargrove, Hughes, Jones, King, Lewis, McDowell, Paraler, Phillips, Pizzini, Rankin, Redford, Riddell, Holdinson, Straus, and Turpin.

Mr. Pearman was absent on account of death in his family.

The clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, and they were signed and approved.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

MATOR'S MESSAGE.

The Sergeant-at-Arms presented the following communication from the Mayor. It had been written for the called meeting of the Board of Aldermen, but had miscarried. The Mayor said:

"As your special meeting is called at my suggestion, you have a right to expect a statement of my reasons for so doing.

A few days since the City Engineer reported to me officially that in laying the gas-papea along Broad street the hands were about to cut through a sewer near Serventh and Broad streets, and thereby diminish its area, or to leave its space too small to carry and Broad streets, and thereby diminish its area, or to leave its space too small to carry off the sewerage, make it liable to accumumilate a sewer-gas that would probably produce explosion and endanger lives and property in that vicinity, and entail heavy expense on the city to remedy the damage by rearranging the sewer. He appeared to me to interpose and prevent such results, and of course I felt it my date to act in such an energency with duty to act in such an emergency with promptness, until the City Kngineer could rectify or act upon the matter, just as I would feel bound to protect any of the city would feel bound to protest any of the city property from damage, at any hands about to damage it. I took the precautionary steps to ask the presidents of the two branches of the Council to meet the City Engineer and myself on the ground and inspect the premises. From the statements of the City Engineer and our examination all of us agreed the sewer ought not to be disturbed, and I directed further work to be stopped, which I was promised should be done by Mr. Sherly King, who was in charge of the hands, and who kept the promise until required by his superior was in energe of the hands, and who keps the promise until required by his superior officers to proceed. Without my know-ledge the work did proceed beyond the point of alleged damage to the culvert. On learn-ing of this early in the morning, I again called the City Engineer to a consultation, called the City Engineer to a consultation, to advise me to what point a derangement of pipes would be necessary if the Council ordered the culvert to be replaced, and I directed the police to see that the pipes were not covered to that point, with a view that any further action or change might be at the least possible expense and delay. The hands, under orders from the chairman of the Committee on Light and the Superintendent of the Gas-Works, attempted to proceed with the work and were arrested. Being advised asked the presidents to call their respective branches together. Thus stands that part of the affair, which I leave to your Judg-ment for consideration.

Since the trouble referred to, I have learned other facts of which I was not made aware before, and which I did not have time to learn, and to which I deem if have time to learn, and to which I doesn't my duty to refer. I am informed that the City Engineer had agreed to be bound by the action of the two committees on "Light" and "Streets," and to make no further objection. The two committees did neet, and in joint meeting agreed to proceed and cut the culvert. I knew of this meeting, but was not informed by the Engineer when he asked my intervention. Engineer when he asked my intervention Engineer when he asked my intervention that he had agreed to abide the decision of these committees with which he asked and advised me to interfere. I am further informed by the chairman of the Committee on Light (Hon. W. R. Bowie) and Colonel John H. Knowles, Superintendent of Gas-Works, that it was understood that on reaching any further like obstruction it would be arranged to the satisfaction of, and on conference with. informed when complaint was made, or hension from further like trouble and damage. From the same officers I am informed that the City Engineer has been asked, but had falled to furnish, information of obstructions by sewers, water-pipes, &c., in their line of pipe-lay-ing, so that they might prepare to meet the difficulties; and that failure to give this information—sought more than once— enced them to came muon the sewer at

On motion of Mr. Pizzini, the communication was received and filed, no debate being leaf.

THE ARMORY ECHIDING. On motion of Mr. Parater, the communi-cation from the Mayor vetoing the resolu-tion which passed the Council and which restricted the use of the First regiment's armory to military purposes and placed it under the control of the Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings was taken from the table.

Public Grounds and Buildings was taken from the table.

Mr. Pizzini moved that the reading of the veto be dispensed with, saying it would only be "a waste of time and of the clerk's breath to do so."

The Council then passed the resolution unanimously, notwithstanding the Mayor's veto.

Sirects.—From the Committee on Streets
Mr. Campbell presented a report for opening a number of alleys and streets in the city and the widening of First street from Broad to Grace. The condemnation proposition was, on motion of Mr. Guy, referred to the Committee on Finance and the City Attorney. The report also recommended that the right of way through the city be granted the Clay Telephone Company.
Mr. Cabell moved that ordinance granting the right of way be referred to a committee of five, who shall report to this body the

I congratulate the gentlemen in charge of this movement. I congratulate them on the near realization of their hopes and plans. I congratulate them on the name they have selected for this building—Corcoran Hail. Who does not love to bonor Corcoran?—a man who reversed the rule of money getting; whose soul did not narrow as his fortune increased, but whose heart widened as his estate enlarged—a man of pure life and incorruptible the territy—a man who delights to spend his last days is doing good, and whose old age is made bright by the benedictions of thousand the same field.

The very name is suggestive of industry and honor, of public spirit and philanthropy; and as it shall continually fall on the cars of the youth of our city, it will tend to inspire them with correct principles and exalted alms. [Apptause.]

I congratulate these gentlemen on the inevitably good effects of their enterprise. Some one has cynically asked why, in the divine economy, health has not been made as contagious as disease. I believe health is contagious, Let a mother meet a bale in the street that is rosy and plump, and immediately she will go home and consider how she can make her infantso. one of our worthy citizens went to the vacant square on Grace street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh and built him a res-dence; soon after came another worthy citdence; soon after came another worthy citizen and built him a home immediately adjoining, and now the whole square is occupied with brick dwellings of admirably neat construction; and the end is not yet in that neighborhood. Some months age neighbor Davis commenced an elegant residence at the corner of Broad and Twenty seventh; but neighbor Vaughan, at corner of Marshall and Twenty-sixth, was not going to be left, and one morning we waked up and found that he had converted his dwelling into a stately mansion. And thus the contagion spreads; may it keep on spreading until many more break out with the disease, which is nothing more than contagious health. And now when Corcoran Hall rises, new, elegant, imposing, don't you think these landnow when Corcoran Hall rises, acw. elegant, imposing, don't you think these landlords owning preperty around here will

Such are some of the possibilities of the future.

And now we lay the corner-stone. Here under the bright light of an October sun and sky; here in the presence of this immense throng of Richmond's sons and daughters; here almost in hearing of the rippling of Bloody Run, where, in the ages long gone by, civilization and savagery met face to face and contended for the mastery in the new-found world; here in full sight of the time-scarred but ever sacred edifice in which Patrick Henry struck the key-note of American liberty; here, now, we begin our enterprise, committing it to the favor of that ever-present, all-seeing God in whom we all believe. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Pollard read the following letter:

WASHINGTON, October 2, 1884. D. C. Richardson, Esq., Office of Police Justice, Richmond, Va.: Dear Sir,—I have your esteemed favor of the 1st instant inviting me to be present on Monday next at the ceremony of laying the corner-stone of "Corcoran Hall" with Masonic ceremonies as the guest of the Board.

Please present to the Board.

Board.

Please present to the Board my appreciation of the honor conferred and my regrets that the oppressive weather, coupled with the present state of my health, will prevent my being present on that occasion, which, under other circumstances, would afford me pleasure.

which, under outer than a form of the pleasure.

With kind regard, I am, dear sir, very respectfully yours.

Mr. Pollard: May he live for many years to come. [Applause.]

The doxology was then summer, and the audience dismissed with the benediction.

COLUMBUS WHITEWASHED. The Virginias Shut Out the Columbus Club

in Their First Game Here. The Virginias won an easy victory from The Virginias won an easy ventering them out, with the score 8 to 0, in each tinnings. The home team was first to the bat, with Sullivan in the box for their opponents, and Carroll to hold him, Meegan and Hanna filled similar positions for the home with Sulivan did not pitch effectively. There were fifteen hits made on him, with a total of 24. Meegan did better work for our boys, having only six scattering singles made on him and striking out six men. Sulivan only retired three on strikes.

The Virginias played a perfect game, except the error made by Johnston—muffing a fly in centre-field. This, however, was an excusable error, and he redeemed himself by making two fine catches. On one he made a double play by throwing to Nash and cutting off the runner at third; in the other he had to run backward a long distance, and in making a desperate jump distance, and in making a desperate jump for the ball captured it when his feet were some distance from the ground. Glenn also did beautiful work in left field. He caught two fouls, for one of which he had to run from his position to the corner of the fence, about one hundred yards.

The second one was nearly as far.

The Columbus Club did some good work in the field, but their seven errors and weak batting ruined their record. The weak batting ruined their record. In-errowd was very fair for such hot, dusty weather, and the applause was liberal to all good plays. Schenck and Mansell led in number of hits for the Virginias. The bat-ting of the entire club was unprecedented, every man made a hit, and several mad

Gilbert B. Walden, Esq., Manassus, Va.:

My Dear Sir.—I am truly obliged by your letter of the 5th instant.

Apart from the value of the proposed contribution, per se, or of that part of it which it would be proper undoubtedly to accept (for I question the propriety of including any relic or memento of the late war in our exhibit), your letter is most gratifying as showing that not all Virginians are indifferent to the effort making for a creditable State display at the approaching World's Exposition.

Yours is an example so worthy to be followed that I shall take the liberty of publishing your letter, in the hope that others, seeing your good works, may "go and do likewise."

write for them.
You may hold me personally responsible for the safe return of your contribution when the Exposition shall have ended.

Very respectfully, WILLIAM W. FINNEY, Secretary.

Mr. Morris Nelson, for a great many years a merchant tailor of this city, died last night, in the sixty-first year of he age. He was a quiet, good citizen, and was widely known in this community. He leaves a wife and nine children. He had been out of active business for some time, but was fitting up a store to begin again, when overtaken by an attack of pulmonary troubles, which ended his life.

MANCHESTER AND VICINITY.

Rev. John Jasper.

Rev. W. W. Landrum delivered the closing address before the Building Association of the Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Dr. Hatcher was present also, and addressed the meeting. Mr. Frank Cunningham sang several sweet selections, and Mr. Kirk Mathews presided at the organ. The music was excellent, the speaking interesting, and the whole exercises highly pleasing to the large congregation present.

Sunday night as Rev. A. Binga, Jr., pastor of the colored Baptist church in this city, was on his way to church, he was attacked by two dogs belonging to Mr. H. J. Mantie, who resides on the corner of Fourteenth and Huil streets. The dogs were out in the street as Mr. Binga passed, and had not persons near by come to his assistance the animals would perhaps have killed him. As it was he was badly bitten on the legs. Mr. Mantie was reported to the police for allowing vicious dogs to run at large. The case would have been tried in the Mayor's Court yesterday morning but for the absence of Mr. Mantle, who was so badly injured Sunday by falling off a horse that he was unable to walk yesterday morning.

Mr. Binga was able to be out yesterday. Mr. Binga was and to be only escribed, but his wounds are painful.

Yesterday morning Frank Mayo (colored) was found dead in a house in Swansboro'. The jury summoned by Justice Howlett (colored) decided that he came to his death from natural causes—probably heart-discesse.

Rev. John Jasper preached at the colored Baptist church in this city Sunday after-noon, but not on his celebrated theme, "De Sun Do Move." He had quite a large audience, including a number of white Considerable interest was manifested in the election of inspector of leaf tobacco, the candidates being General Peyton Wise and Mr. Elijah H. Simpson. The vote stood— Wise, 70; Simpson, 21; and General Wise was declared elected.

Mazeppa at the Theatre Last Night. Last night Miss Fannie Louise Bucking-

Last night Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham opened a four-nights' engagement at the Theatre by appearing as Mazeppa in the dramatization of Lord Byron's celebrated poem of that name.

The house was topheavy—the most of the audience being in the galleries—but to judge from the applause the play gave groat satisfaction. It has been some time since our people have seen Mazeppa, and but for the hot weather a larger house would have been present. Some changes have been made in the play, and there are too many gags and too much low comedy to make the effect as impressive as it might otherwise be. "It has always been a drawing play here." said an old theatregoer last night, referring to the time when Kate Fisher took the leading rôle, "and I believe that but for the weather the house would be filled to-night."

Personals and Briefs.

Rev. Mr. Kerr is still quite unwell. Rev. Peyton H. Hoge filled the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church for him on Sunday morning; there were no afternoon services. Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge is now on his homeward voyage.

Mons. Spiro Zetelle, the great caterer, who lived for years in Richmond, is visiting his friends here. His sudden appearance took them all by surprise, and he received an ovation yesterday wherever he went, if not as noisy certainly more hearty than that accorded the "magnetic" Blancon his tour through Ohio. Everybody wants this great cook to settle down in his old home, Richmond.

On the 6th of October, 1881, there was heavy frost, which killed all the uneut to-bacco in the State.

"The Accident was Due to Careless

So said the coroner's jury, and censured the switch-tender who was said to have carelessly left the switch open. Examination showed that the poor fellow was nervous from overwork, and that his constitution was badly run down by underfeeding, the result of poor pay. What he needed was a bottle or two of Brown's Iron Bitters, which would have toned up his nerves and strengthened him in mind and body. Mr. Thomas Jones, Newark, Ohio, takes pleasure in saving: "Brown's Iron Bitters completely cured me of weakness, debility, and poor appetite. It gave entire satisfaction."
